Standing Policy Committee on Planning & Urban Development
Office of the Councillors
700 Macleod Trail SE
Calgary, AB T2G 2M3

Dear Mayor Nenshi and City Councillors:

During the Public Hearing from March 22-24, Council listened to three days worth of speakers with a great number of concerns and recommendations to improve the Guidebook. A common theme was the lack of engagement, awareness and transparency on what the Guidebook truly means for residents and communities.

There were no Guidebook amendments presented to the public between the March 22-24 public hearing and the April 28th deadline for written submissions to be published on the agenda for the Standing Policy Committee on Planning and Urban Development (PUD). Further, Administration's report to PUD will not be available online to the public until Friday April 30th. This is two days after the deadline for written submissions.

Council gave direction "to receive and consolidate proposed amendments submitted by members of Council and the public for review and consideration for Administration". Council also directed Administration to report to the May 05 Standing Policy Committee on Planning and Urban Development committee meeting with a "What We Heard" report based on the Guidebook for Great Communities Public Hearing 2021 March 22-24 "and proposed recommended amendments to the Guidebook for Council consideration, engaging with stakeholders as needed, with public participation in the committee meeting".

The consolidation of amendments from the public is a necessary first step in involving Calgarians in proposed amendment recommendations to the Guidebook. However, we emphasize that meaningful public engagement on substantive amendments is still needed, particularly for sections such as: urban form categories (neighbourhood local & neighbourhood connector), urban forestry, heritage, and the Local Area Planning process, as well as others.

The Guidebook represents a major evolution to planning that will directly affect every community within our City for decades to come and it must not be rushed. PUD should not recommend that Council approve an amended Guidebook and Council should not approve an amended Guidebook, in any form, until there has been City-wide public engagement on proposed Guidebook amendments.

We, the undersigned communities and individuals, ask you to take the time needed to get this right.

Sincerely,
