Background & Methodology

Background

To help support City decisions, The City of Calgary surveys citizens about their opinions, preferences, and attitudes. To help in “making life better every day” for Calgarians, The City conducts the Citizen Perspectives Survey at various intervals through the year.

Calgary is a diverse place in terms of race, ancestry, place of origin, religious beliefs, gender identity, age, disability, marital status, family status, source of income, and sexual orientation. In order to understand how well The City of Calgary meets the needs of diverse groups of Calgarians, a survey focusing on Diversity and Inclusion was conducted in June 2021. In late 2018, a similar Citizen Perspectives survey was conducted, and results will be compared where applicable.

Methodology

The survey was conducted by Leger from June 17 – 23, 2021 with 500 Calgarians via telephone using random digit dialing (RDD). The survey was conducted using numbers from both landlines (53%) and cell phones (47%) to obtain a random and statistically representative sample of Calgarians. The survey averaged 15 minutes in duration. The margin of error (MOE) for the total sample of n=500 is ± 4.38 percentage points, 19 times out of 20.

To ensure the data was gathered from a representative group of Calgarians, sample quotas were set by age, gender, and city quadrant of the general population aged 18 and older. Data were then weighted to the 2016 Civic Census for age and gender.

Where applicable, results from the 2018 Diversity and Inclusion Survey are shown for comparison purposes. Where a difference from the previous survey is statistically significant, it is noted with an arrow: ↓ or ↑

Contextual Timeline

- July 2020: City of Calgary public hearings on systemic racism
- September 2020: Calgary Police Service launches Commitment to Anti-Racism
- Beginning in early 2021: Increasing anti-Muslim racism
- May 2021: Discovery of numerous unmarked graves at former Indigenous residential school sites begins
- June 2021: Citizen Perspectives Survey: Diversity and Inclusion

Key Findings

Key Findings

The overall results from this survey show broad agreement that Calgarians view Calgary as an inclusive and welcoming city. However, when results are viewed from the perspective of various sub-groups of the population, clear differences in opinion are revealed.

Over time and with the passage of multiple events related to racism, intolerance, and discrimination, perceptions have generally become more moderate, with more people choosing to agree less strongly with many statements.

- Almost all Calgarians (94%) agree that people in Calgary have opportunities to express and celebrate their unique cultures.
 - Since 2018, this opinion has become more moderate, with fewer people in 2021 saying they agree strongly, and more agreeing somewhat.
- Nearly all Calgarians (93%) agree that people in Calgary are very welcoming and friendly.
 - More than half agree only somewhat with this sentiment in 2021, while in 2018 more Calgarians agreed strongly.
- Almost nine in ten Calgarians (88%) agree that advancing Truth and Reconciliation is something that all Calgarians should be a part of.
 - More respondents agree strongly with this in 2021 than in 2018.
- The majority (85%) of Calgarians agree that some people have advantages that allow them to have a better quality of life than others.
 - Compared to 2018, more Calgarians now disagree with this statement.

Key Findings

Overall, most Calgarians agree that The City of Calgary does a good job of meeting the needs of specific groups of Calgarians.

- Around three-quarters agree that The City meets the needs of the following groups:
 - People who are recent immigrants (79%).
 - Children aged 12 or younger (81%).
 - Youth aged 13-24 (81%).
 - Older adults aged 65 and older (74%).
 - People who rent their homes (75%).
- Between half and three-quarters agree that The City meets the needs of these Calgarians:
 - People of colour and visible minorities (69%).
 - People who do not speak English as their first language (66%).
 - Indigenous Peoples (58%).
 - People in low-income households (55%).
 - People with disabilities (72%).
 - People who are members of the LGBTQ2S+ community (70%).
 - People experiencing challenges with mental health or addictions (56%).
- Fewer than half agree that The City meets the needs of:
 - People experiencing homelessness (45%).
- Compared to 2018, fewer people now agree that the needs of most groups are being met.
 - Opinions have held steady from 2018 for older adults and for people experiencing challenges with mental health or addictions.

Key Findings

Overall, the majority of Calgarians agree that Calgary is moving in the right direction to address issues like social well-being, gender equity, anti-racism, Truth and Reconciliation, mental health and addiction, and support for low-income households.

- Agreement is moderate for all of these issues, with most respondents agreeing only somewhat.

Just under one in five Calgarians shared personal experiences of inclusion challenges with City services, programs, or facilities.

- Most challenges were related to seeking out mental health supports or resources and services to help their situation.

When asked, open-ended, how The City could better meet the needs of all Calgarians, most frequently mentioned ideas were to listen and collaborate with citizens, including through surveys, and to focus on diversity and inclusion.

Overall, most Calgarians agree that the neighbourhood in which they live is a place where they belong, where they feel safe, where they can access community facilities, that is welcoming to diverse people, and that is safe for all residents and visitors.

- Since 2018, agreement has become more muted, with more people in 2021 agreeing only somewhat and fewer agreeing strongly.

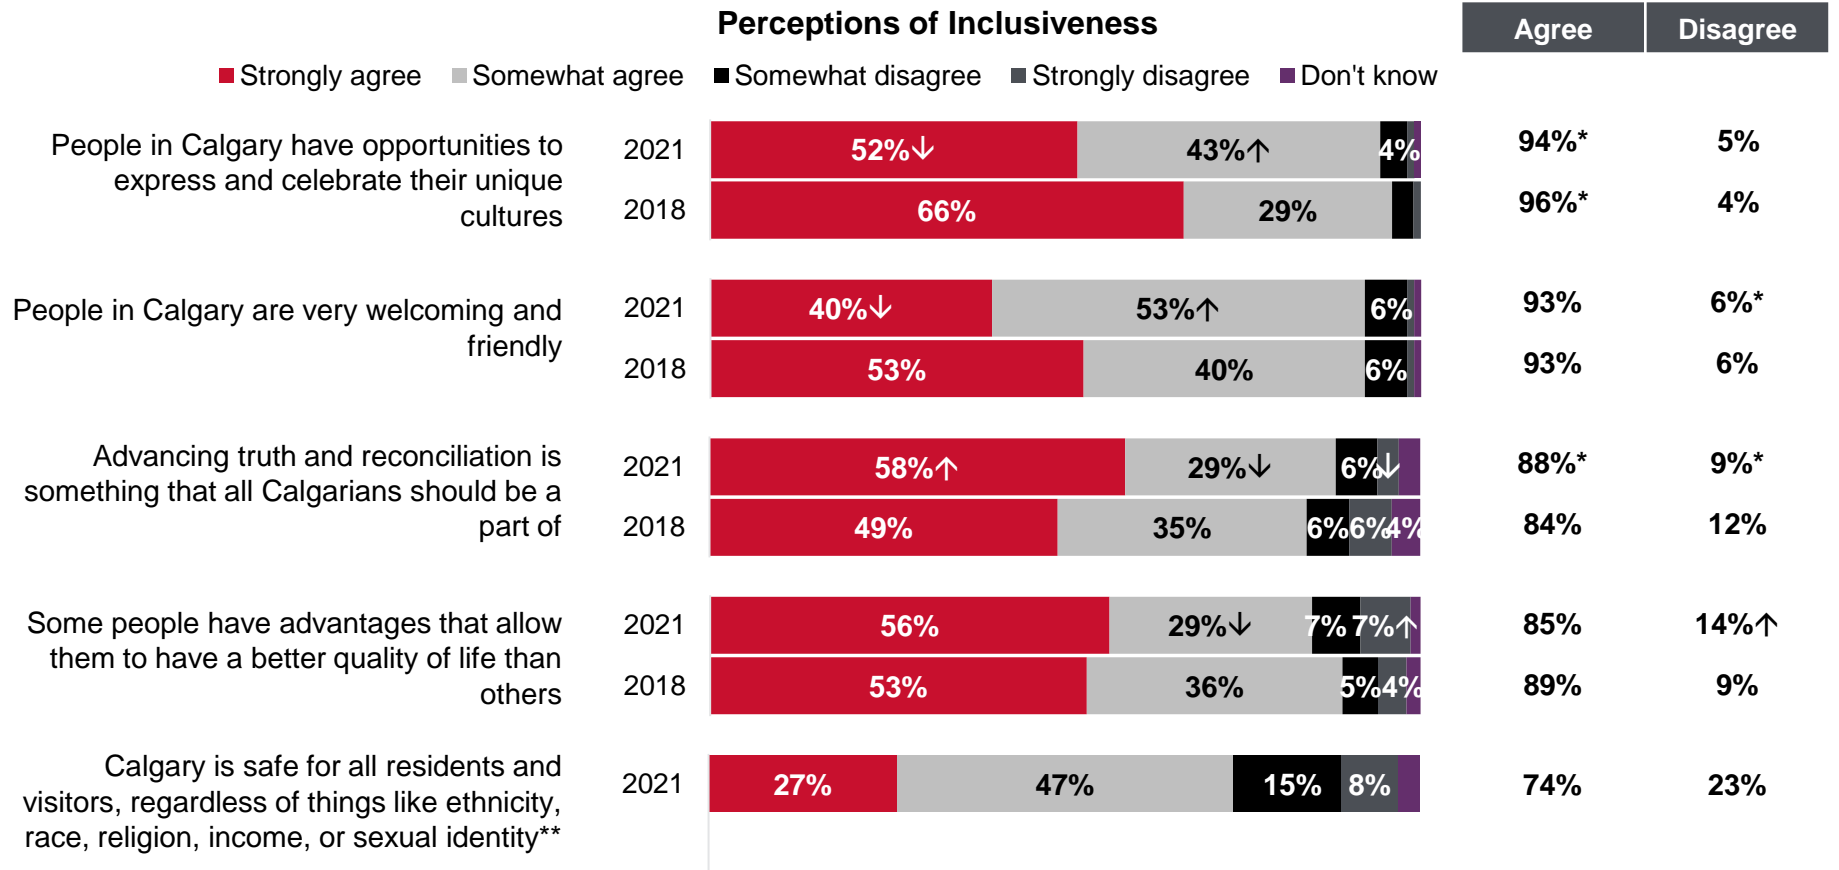

Detailed Findings

Perceptions of Calgary's Inclusiveness

Generally, respondents agree that Calgary is inclusive; however, since 2018, opinions that people express and celebrate their cultures and that people in Calgary are welcoming and friendly have become more moderate. More respondents in 2021 “strongly” agree that all Calgarians should be part of advancing Truth and Reconciliation.

Note: Self-reported.

Statistically significant differences between a group and their counterpart (e.g., people not born in Canada vs. people born in Canada) are noted with arrows:

For example:

Not born in Canada 49% ↑ = more immigrants than non-immigrants agreed with the statement and the difference is statistically significant
 Born in Canada 36%

Additional questions on demographic and personal characteristics were asked in the survey, including household income, presence of children or seniors in the household, language spoken at home, etc.; however, few or no significant differences were noted for these sub-groups, or the sub-groups were too small.

The City of Calgary 2021 Citizen Perspectives Survey – Diversity and Inclusion

INTRODUCTION

Hello, my name is _____. I'm calling from Leger, a national public opinion research company. I am not selling anything. The City of Calgary has commissioned us to conduct a survey to understand your opinions about living in Calgary.

(INTERVIEWER NOTE: IF CREDIBILITY IS AN ISSUE OR IF RESPONDENT HAS A CONCERN SAY: If you wish to talk to a City official about this survey, we encourage you to contact The City at 311 and specifically mention the "Citizen Perspectives Survey." City Staff would be happy to address your concerns.)

The survey will take approximately 15 minutes depending on your answers. Before we begin I have a few questions about you.
For quality control purposes, this call may be recorded.

PREQ.

I want to let you know that the personal information collected in this survey is done so under the authority of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act, Section 33(c) and is used to provide guidance to The City of Calgary when it comes to making decisions regarding municipal matters. If you have questions about the collection or use of your information, please contact a City of Calgary Research Coordinator at 403-268-6732 and specifically mention the "Citizen Perspectives Survey" or send a letter to "Research Coordinator, The City of Calgary, Mail code 8305, P.O. Box 2100, Station M, Calgary, AB Canada T2P 2M5."

DI1. I'm going to read you a series of statements. Please indicate the extent to which you agree or disagree with each statement. The first one is:

People in Calgary are very welcoming and friendly
[RANDOMIZE REMAINING STATEMENTS]

Some people have advantages that allow them to have a better quality of life than others. Advancing truth and reconciliation is something that all Calgarians should be a part of. Truth and reconciliation is the process that builds respectful relationships between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people.

People in Calgary have opportunities to express and celebrate their unique cultures. Calgary is safe for all residents and visitors, regardless of things like ethnicity, race, religion, income, or sexual identity.
