Horizon Land Surveys does NOT do community engagement though they seem to regurgitate the same "community engagement information" from every one of their numerous applications. This is the second project where we live within a block and have received zero information.

This is also yet another H-GO in a community that is being inundated by developers. We are seeing massive tree destruction - canopy loss, and habitat loss. These mature trees are a major part of what makes Capitol Hill special.

We have a lot of concerns with so much density - noise, odours, traffic, parking, light pollution, increased risks of 'heat islands' especially with black asphalt shingles, increased fire risk and probably more electricity and sewer problems as there is increasing demand on aging infrastructure.

We are also greatly concerned that each application is looked at in isolation with no thought or planning for the overall community.
