

Background and Previous Council Direction

Background

Following the 2015 Ethics Audit (AC2015-0560), The City refreshed our Administration Code of Conduct to align it with best practices. The refreshed Code, launched on calgary.ca in 2017 March, applies to all employees including permanent, temporary, on-call and seasonal employees.

The City of Calgary continues to recognize that having an Administration Code of Conduct (Code), founded on our values, is key to our success. A strong Code benefits everyone. It fosters a safe, healthy and ethical workplace, protects our collective reputation and strengthens our commitment to making Calgary a great place to make a living and a great place to make a life. Administration’s Code of Conduct is separate from Council’s Code of Conduct.

The Code is values-based, allowing employees to engage the corporate values as a framework for decision-making, rather than listing a complex set of detailed rules. The Code has been organized into four behaviour-based themes to support and reduce the complexity of the nine underlying policies, as outlined in Figure 1.

Since 2018 June, employees have completed mandatory Code training at regular intervals, and new employees are encouraged to complete training within 90 days of starting at The City. Leaders also complete the mandatory Code of Conduct for Leaders course, which was introduced in 2020 to ensure they understand their role in supporting the Code. Code training was updated in 2022, with a refreshed course launched in 2023 January.

The City continues to offer Code training primarily through eLearning, with a smaller group of employees being taken through it in a facilitated classroom setting. Updates to the program were most recently made in 2024. All employees are required to complete Code training and new hires are required to do so within 90 days of commencement.

These courses promote ethical decision making by applying the Code of Conduct Decision Tool seen in Figure 2. This Decision Tool remains pivotal in Administration’s efforts to educate employees to think through various situations, rather than memorize the ‘right’ thing to do in every situation, for every Code of Conduct policy.
