2026 OPWG - Draft Sustainability Framework

OPC2018-0784

Evolution of Games Sustainability

Early 1990s

1994

Vancouver
2010 &
London 2012

Agenda 2020 – A big shift

Agenda 2020 Strategic Direction (Dec 2014)

- 40 recommendations approved
- Three pillars of the Olympic Movement: credibility, sustainability, youth

Olympic Winter Games Strategic Review (2015)

- Attention on sustainability, legacy, host city invitation, & selection process
- Reduce cost and complexity

How Does the IOC Define Sustainability?

“...working in accordance with one’s vision and values that lead to lasting benefits. While legacy is about the outcomes...sustainability is the upfront approach through which negative impacts are minimized and positive outcomes are maximized.”

“...having the ability to make informed decisions that make good business sense for the job in hand and simultaneously taking full account of both immediate and longer-term impacts and opportunities across environmental, social and economic spheres.”

Games as a Catalyst

“Every city that hosts the Olympic Games does so for wider reasons than the event itself. Sport is the driver for the project...

...But for the seven years of preparation after the host city election, and for many years beyond, the story is about the city, the country and people.”

- Alberta
- Canada
- Sport

Ensure Games and Legacy Planning Fit Hosts' Desired Future

Sustainability and Legacy Alignment Examples

Example	Sustainability Objective	Leads to	Legacy Outcome
	LEED Gold design standards for venue and village buildings	→	High performance buildings for legacy use in sport, recreation, housing (smaller environmental footprint, healthier spaces, lower operating cost)
	Engage partners in carbon reduction strategies/actions - sport, government, corporate (sponsors/suppliers)	→	Adoption of new low carbon practices by partners post-Games that result in reduced carbon emissions over the long term
	New accommodation for athlete and media villages on developed sites near public transportation	→	Additional affordable housing supply in appropriate areas, near transit
	Local sourcing to create employment, grow/showcase local businesses, reduce shipping transportation impacts	→	Potential exposure to larger markets for local products/services, job creation, new skills
	Identify post-Games end-of-use plans for furniture, equipment, material to reduce waste	→	Sport, social, community organizations benefit from legacy donations of furniture, equipment, material

Paris 2024 to Los Angeles 2028

“We believe the Olympic Movement has both an opportunity and a duty to contribute actively to global sustainability in line with our vision: “Building a better world through sport”.”
