

Calgary Eats Food Assessment System Reporting - July 15th, 2015

Larry Heather lheather@shaw.ca

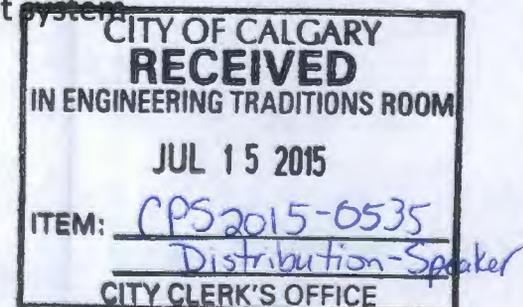

It is quite apparent as we view this reporting update on Calgary Eats, that we have here the groundwork for an expansive bureaucracy that could lead to some such entity as the Calgary Food Authority. To read the purpose statement is to enter a world of subjective and unsustainable expenditures pending. And it is to replicate departmental work already governed by appropriate federal and provincial departments.

“A sustainable and resilient food system for the Calgary region so that every Calgarian has access to local, healthy and environmentally friendly food. “

In the control of food disease, deterioration, preservation and distribution of food for market viability, the goals here are uniquely suited to the promotion of special interest group enthusiasms funded again by the hapless taxpayer. Not only will areas of intervention planned distort the market forces for the best and cheapest sources of foods, but force on the Calgary market unsustainable prices, production costs in a short growing season, and supply levels.

This is an interference into the marketplace, in an already hugely successful field where the variety and choice of foods available to Calgarians is unparalleled. This retrogressive move back to a primitive limitation of choices, forced on Calgarians by an overly active City administration is far outside the domain of proper Municipal governance. The growth of this initiative in it's full intent cannot help but starved and hinder essential civic responsibilities outlined in the Fire Department Annual Report at the end of this agenda.

Imagine Calgary, that utopian and over-reaching document which acknowledges no area outside the realm of Municipal interference, is the incubus of many misbegotten bankrupting initiatives. It is the nature of socialism to gain ultimate control of all activities formerly handled by the free market system.

Marx sought the development of egalitarian communist society. In this communist society, the state would own the means of production, and it would equally distribute resources to all citizens. The means of production would be shared by all members of society, and social stratification would be abolished.

Source: Boundless. "Marx's View of Class Differentiation." Boundless Sociology. Boundless, 10 Jul. 2015. Retrieved 15 Jul. 2015 from <https://www.boundless.com/sociology/textbooks/boundless-sociology-textbook/global-stratification-and-inequality-8/sociological-theories-and-global-inequality-72/marx-s-view-of-class-differentiation-425-4960/>

We must realize that the intrusion of Calgary Eats, has all the earmarks of a socialist market intervention and I recommend that we cease and desist from this initiative of Calgary Eats as soon as possible. We have seen the antics New York Mayors Bloomberg and de Blasio into the control of fast food while crime is running rampant their streets.